From Memorial Day to Labor Day, One Kings Lane, a premier online shopping destination for high-end home décor and design, will be holding court in the former Rogers Memorial Library. “We want to help make summer vacations as fulfilling as possible,” says the brand’s president, Debbie Propst.

The 19th-century landmark space invites guests to explore exclusive modern and one-of-a-kind vintage finds in a warm, homey environment. With 3,500 square feet of beautifully styled vignettes, design-savvy shoppers can acquire key products from onekingslane.com along with cash-and-carry pieces like designer beach towels, entertainment accessories, and outdoor accents.

Whether it’s creating an entire home, adding finishing touches, assembling the perfect hostess gift basket, or producing a stunning dinner party table, One Kings Lane is prepared to assist chic East Enders with fully living their personal styles. Clients can schedule complimentary one-on-one consultations with the company’s design team. There is even the option of in-home appointments if you prefer to hunker down once you hit the Hamptons. The more social set, meanwhile, can look forward to a season of ongoing interactive events, trunk shows, and workshops with renowned collaborators.

Design buffs can book an appointment through The Studio (the brand’s Manhattan showroom, located at 315 Hudson Street) or the website, or simply pop into this magnificent new venue that hasn’t been accessible to the public in several years. 11 Jobs Lane, Southampton; onekingslane.com ■
